What is this course about?
This is an advanced introduction into how decisions are taken in the European Union, designed for people who need to get quickly up to speed and operate effectively in an EU environment.

How will it help you?
The course reviews the essential elements that everyone needs to know: the different powers that have been given to the EU, the basic competences of the various institutions, and the main instruments and procedures that are involved. It goes through the different stages in legislative procedures. The elaboration of a Commission proposal is presented, with emphasis on public consultation and impact assessment. The course explains how a legislative proposal is then dealt with in the European Parliament and the Council, and the ordinary legislative procedure is illustrated by a case study. The final session reviews the system of delegated acts and implementing acts which are adopted at EU level in order to adapt or apply legislative acts.

The course includes a group exercise as well as a role play, and uses multiple examples and real life cases. It is also part of a blended learning package. Participants are sent a set of concise preparatory materials in advance to allow them to take full advantage of the course. In order to help retain and deepen the knowledge acquired afterwards, participants receive a copy of Edward Best’s 2016 book Understanding EU Decision-Making, published by Springer with the support of the EU Publications Office, as well as enjoying access to an online platform.
THURSDAY 12 OCTOBER 2017

09.00 Welcome and introduction to the course
Edward Best, Head of European Decision-Making Unit, EIPA, Maastricht.

09.15 Principles and Structures of EU Decision-Making
The course begins with a review of the main principles and structures of the EU system. An overall picture is provided of the Union’s institutional arrangements following the Lisbon Treaty, with emphasis on the new system of legally binding acts: legislative, delegated, implementing and other.

Group exercise:
Who does what in the EU institutional system?

A simple model of the core EU policy cycle is then presented, indicating the main roles and functions which are involved. The participants divide into groups. The groups are invited to match schematic outlines and sets of institutional actors and instruments.

10.45 Coffee break

11.00 The Commission and Legislative Proposals
The course then looks in more detail at the start of the policy cycle. It explains how the Commission elaborates legislative proposals and outlines the role of expert groups, public consultations and impact assessments.

12.00 The Council and Legislative Procedures
The internal structure and working methods of the Council are presented, identifying the main actors and decision-making processes involved.

12.45 Lunch

14.00 The European Parliament and Legislative Procedures
The afternoon starts by looking at internal procedures within the other legislative body of the Union, the European Parliament. It demonstrates how legislative proposals are examined in the Parliamentary Committees and in the Plenary, using specific examples to illustrate the processes involved.

15.00 Simulation Exercise on the Ordinary Legislative Procedure: Introduction
Introduction to the case and individual preparation.
Wolfgang Koeth, Senior Lecturer, European Decision-Making Unit, EIPA, Maastricht

16.00 End of the course

FRIDAY 13 OCTOBER 2017

09.00 The Ordinary Legislative Procedure
The Ordinary Legislative Procedure, by which the Parliament and the Council have to agree on most legislative proposals, is then discussed in more detail. The possible stages of agreement are illustrated with examples, and the challenges of inter-institutional negotiations are highlighted through a case study.
Edward Best

10.30 Coffee break

11.00 Simulation Exercise (2)
Trilogue and debriefing.
Wolfgang Koeth

13.00 Lunch

14.15 Delegated and Implementing Acts
This session goes into more detail regarding the post-Lisbon system of ‘delegated acts’ and ‘implementing acts’. It explains how procedures have evolved, and discusses how the continuing institutional issues have been addressed in interinstitutional negotiations for a new Common Understanding.
Wolfgang Koeth

15.30 Wrap-up and general discussion

16.00 End of the course
